

Where's Wilson?

Wednesday, 18 April 2007

Well, well, well, it seems the loony left has been missing me (see image insert)! They have been asking, where's Citizen Wilson?

Citizen Wilson has been around. I've been out and about getting 'inspired'. I've been wandering the stacks at Book and Brier, sipping Coffee in a few coffee shops, and listening to the grass roots asking for their chance to express their political will at the Provincial level. C'mon Lorne, just call it!

As for the City Budget, shee-it, the increase isn't so bad. Unlike many of those opposite me in the political debate, I prefer a slight increase rather than continue to keep locked into the events of the past.

Folks, the election is over, yet many of the CCFR cronies STILL want to keep on talking about campaign issues. Got one word for ya'all.... WAAAHH!

C'mon, put a soother in it, and move on!
