

Why I can't Vote for Pat

Friday, 15 September 2006

I'm sorry Pat, the voters are looking around!

It's nothing personal, it's just politics, I'm sure you understand.

The leader I want is one who leads by example, and is not afraid to take on a fight. Yes, I know you are boxer, but that won't carry any weight with me, I don't think you have really stepped into the ring. You claim to be a fighter, but in my opinion you haven't fought where its needed. Rather you stayed outside the ropes and whined like a coach.

"We don't get our share", "The Provincial Gov't cut back", "We need our share".

Rather than slip on the gloves and make the tough choices, you did coaching. Look Pat, being a leader means sometimes you can't take the safe path. Sometimes it means you have to get your nose bloodied. Like Rocky, I'd be in your corner to the end if you'd come out swinging. If you took a few hard hits, I'd respect you a lot more.

Unfortunately you chose to play it safe, and it means you didn't go the distance with me.

I'm sorry Pat, I'm going to shop my vote around.
